

Community Impacts of Energy Development

2016-2017 WEBINAR SERIES

Synergies and Innovations in Coordinating Energy Impacts Research: The Case of Shale Development Impacts

November 10, 2016, 2:30 - 3:30 p.m. EST

Jeffrey B. Jacquet, Ph.D., Ohio State University
Jeremy Weber, Ph.D., University of Pittsburgh
Julia H. Haggerty, Ph.D., Montana State University

This webinar kicks off a series of webinars for academic year 2016-2017 that focus on opportunities for synergies and cross-boundary learnings about community impacts of energy development. Specifically, each speaker will share a brief synopsis of approaches and key questions that their respective disciplines—sociology, economics and geography—bring to the case of impacts from shale oil and gas development. Each of 3 speakers will briefly share key developments and new research from across their disciplines while highlighting opportunities for emerging or new interdisciplinary approaches to solve key problems.
