

Date: Friday, February 24, 2017

Location: Thompson Library, Campus Reading Room, 11th floor

Sponsored by the Initiative for Food and AgriCultural Transformation (InFACT) Discovery Theme

Supported by the OSU Fish and Wildlife Society, and the Human-Animal Interactions Club

Time	Topic
9:00 – 10:00	Welcome and Introduction-Brian Snyder, Executive Director of InFACT Session 1 – The Rise of Public Concern for Wildlife <ul style="list-style-type: none">• Jeremy Bruskotter (School of Environment and Natural Resources, OSU) and Alia Dietsch (School of Environment and Natural Resources, OSU)
10:15 – 11:15	Session 2 – Rearing Livestock in Ohio <ul style="list-style-type: none">• Roger High (Ohio Farm Bureau), Brady Campbell (Department of Animal Sciences, OSU), and Liz Parker (Department of Animal Sciences, OSU).
11:15 – 11:50	Session 3 – The Economics of Livestock Predation <ul style="list-style-type: none">• Stephanie Shwiff (USDA-WS-National Wildlife Research Center) and Clint McCoy (Ohio Department of Natural Resources Division of Wildlife).
11:50 – 1:00	Break for Lunch
1:00 – 2:30	Session 4 – Carnivore Ecology and Behavior <ul style="list-style-type: none">• Laura Prugh (School of Environmental and Forest Sciences, University of Washington), Stan Gehrt (School of Environment and Natural Resources, OSU), and Tom Gehring (Department of Biology & Institute for Great Lakes Research, CMU)
2:30 – 2:45	15-minute Break
2:45 – 4:15	Session 5 – Controlling Carnivores around Livestock <ul style="list-style-type: none">• Stewart Breck (USDA-WS-National Wildlife Research Center), Julie Young (USDA-WS-National Wildlife Research Center/College of Natural Resources, OSU), and Eric Gese (USDA-WS-National Wildlife Research Center)
4:15 – 4:30	Closing Remarks – What next?
