Citizenship Across the Rural-Urban Divide

(#35386)

ENR 2400

Foundational concepts of citizenship in historical, current, and social science contexts, INCLUDING definitions, benefits, and responsibilities of citizenship. Citizenship and community participation in rural, urban, or suburban locations, differing perspectives, community institutions and civic engagement. Impacts of agricultural and environmental issues locally, nationally, and globally.

- Understand past and current ways citizenship is CREATED and how these relate to contemporary issues
- Understand how citizenship institutions and ACCESS TO power vary across rural AND urban SPACES and shape community formation, identity, social status, and experiences of people
- Explore the diverse ways that citizenship is EXPERIENCED at local, national, and international scales
