SHARE YOUR MEMORIES – A NOTE FROM THE DIRECTOR

On July 1, 1968 the School of Natural Resources at The Ohio State University was officially formed. While we have expanded our name to be known as the School of Environment and Natural Resources, we are moving along stronger than ever and are preparing to celebrate our 50th Anniversary in 2018. This milestone provides an opportunity for us to honor and celebrate our past, but also to chart the next 50 years.

We are proud to have had thousands of students, and hundreds of faculty and staff be a part of the school’s rich history, who are helping us realize our shared vision of a productive society in harmony with a sustainable and healthy environment. As we prepare for a series of events to honor this milestone, we cordially invite you to share your favorite fond memories and photos of your time or involvement with the school. Your memories will be included as part of the 50th anniversary website and other materials produced to celebrate the momentous occasion and document the school’s history and impact. Take a moment and share your memory with the link below.

Sincerely,
Jeff Sharp, Director, School of Environment and Natural Resources

SHARE YOUR MEMORY HERE:
senr.osu.edu/memories
Questions on sharing your memory? Drop us a note at SENR50@osu.edu.