Course Overview:
This is an introductory course which will focus on understanding key sociological concepts. Special emphasis will be given to rural populations, communities, issues, and trends. Topics include sociological theory and perspectives, culture, socialization, social structure, social control, stratification, institutions, and social change. We also will cover basic sociological research methods, as well as agriculture and the environment. The overall goal is to gain a better understanding of society, and the ways in which social processes influence individuals and groups at the local, regional, national, and international levels.

Objectives: Through this course, students will:
• Obtain a basic knowledge and understanding of the major perspectives, concepts, and content areas in the discipline of sociology;
• Apply sociological concepts to issues and topics concerning relationships within various human groups;
• Apply sociological concepts to issues and topics concerning rural and urban places in American society, and of other societies around the world; and
• Critically examine social issues and topics affecting American society, and of other societies around the world.

This course meets a GEC requirement in Social Science. According to the OSU guidelines: “Social science develops students’ understanding of the systematic study of human behavior and cognition; of the structure of human societies, cultures, and institutions; and of the processes by which individuals, groups, and societies interact, communicate, and use human, natural, and economic resources. Students understand the theories and methods of social scientific inquiry as they are applied to the studies of individuals, groups, organizations, and societies. Students understand the behavior of individuals, differences and similarities in the contexts of human existence (e.g., psychological, social, cultural, economic, geographic, and political), and the processes by which groups, organizations, and societies function. Students develop abilities to comprehend and assess individual and social values, and recognize their importance in social problem solving.”

Other Materials: Other required and recommended readings will be posted on Canvas.

Method of Instruction:
The course meets twice per week, with lectures, discussion, and special in-class activities. Current events and readings will be integrated into the course when relevant. Regular attendance is expected, in order to best learn the material and get the most from this course.

Exams:
There will be two exams and one final exam. Exams will consist of multiple choice and short answer questions. Make-up or rescheduling of exams will be allowed only under extenuating circumstances, and with the prior permission of the instructor and appropriate documentation. The exams are worth 40 points each.

Assignments:
There will be three take-home assignments (1-5 pages) for this class:
1. Short paper about your hometown
2. Short paper on rural life and culture
3. Writing a letter to the editor or elected official

More information about the assignments will be presented in class. Assignments will be due at the beginning of class on the designated dates. The assignments are worth 20 points each.

In-class activities and attendance checks:
On 12 occasions throughout the course, you will be asked to complete an in-class activity or attendance check for two points each. Attendance checks will be in the form of a short question about a topic covered in class or the textbook. These may or may not overlap with exam days. Ten (10) of these activities/attendance checks will count toward your final grade (20 points total).

Grading: Your grade will be based on the following:

1. First exam – 40 points
2. Second exam – 40 points
3. Final exam – 40 points
4. Assignment #1 – 20 points
5. Assignment #2 – 20 points
6. Assignment #3 – 20 points
7. Attendance – 20 points
Total 200 points

Class Policies:
1. No cell phones, surfing the Internet, checking e-mail or Facebook, game playing, or text messaging allowed in class. Any computers used in class must be for class purposes only.
2. Taking photos or recording of lectures during class is not allowed unless special permission is granted. If you are having difficulty with notetaking, please talk to the instructor or TA for assistance.
3. Late assignments will result in a loss of 10% of points for each day the assignment is late.
4. In the course, we will cover issues that can be controversial. You will need to examine your own experiences and assumptions—and think critically. Be respectful of others in class, even if you do not agree with them.
5. If you have concerns about the course, please schedule a time to meet with the instructor to discuss them.
6. Any questions regarding grades must be received within one week of receiving the grade.
7. Some of the concepts can be challenging to understand. Ask for assistance from the instructor or teaching assistant if you would like extra help.

Accommodation of students with disabilities:
Any student with a documented disability who may require special accommodations should let the instructor know as early in the quarter as possible to receive effective and timely accommodations. The office for Disability Services (98 Baker Hall; 292-3307; VRS: 614-429-1334; slds@osu.edu) verifies the need for accommodations and assists in the development of accommodation strategies.

Academic Misconduct:
For activities of this course, the Code of Student Conduct of The Ohio State University applies. Examples of academic misconduct include, but are not limited to, cases of plagiarism and dishonest practices in connection with examinations. Specifically, plagiarism is the representation of another’s work or ideas as one’s own, including the unacknowledged word-for-word and/or paraphrasing of another person’s work, and/or the inappropriate unacknowledged use of another person’s ideas. It also includes submitting substantially the same work to satisfy requirements for one course that has been submitted in satisfaction of requirements for another course, without permission of the instructor for which the work is being submitted. Faculty Rule 3335-5-487 will be followed in cases of academic misconduct – “Instructors shall report instances of alleged academic misconduct to the committee (on academic misconduct).” For more information, please refer to: http://studentaffairs.osu.edu/resource_csc.asp.
